

WBTT Safety Guidelines for Young Artist Performances, August 2021

We're pleased to welcome patrons back safely to WBTT's indoor performances. To ensure the safety of patrons, cast, and crew we have invested in safety enhancements and implemented many safety procedures.

Precautions and Procedures

Westcoast Black Theatre Troupe follows CDC guidelines. We have several certified COVID-19 safety officers to inform our policies that are designed to protect our patrons, cast and crew and to minimize the chances of spreading the virus.

We have daily health checks and test our performers, musicians, crew members and staff regularly for the coronavirus. If anyone tests positive or comes into contact with someone who has tested positive, we instigate contact tracing and ensure that those individuals observe the current CDC-recommended quarantine period. If anyone feels unwell, they are asked not to come to our campus.

We employ a cleaning company to thoroughly sanitize and disinfect all surface areas daily, including seats and other areas patrons may touch.

Our HVAC systems are regularly maintained, and we have installed UV air scrubbers/purifiers throughout these systems in both of our facilities.

Ticketing, Arrival, Capacity, Masks and Playbills

Ticket sales will be cut off two hours prior to all performances. Walk-up tickets will not be available.

WBTT uses ticketless entry to prevent unnecessary physical contact. Please be prepared to give the name your order was purchased under to the box office staff at Will Call in the theatre lobby and supply a valid form of ID upon request.

The theatre will be at 50-percent capacity for the Young Artist performances. Because this show features young performers who may not yet be fully vaccinated, patrons will be required to wear masks at all times while seated in the theatre. Concessions will not be available for these performances. No outside food or drink may be consumed on the premises. The show is 90 minutes with no intermission.

Printed playbills will be available for this show. We will not re-use them but we encourage patrons to share them with others in their party. A digital version will also be available with your ticket reminder.

Thank you for abiding by these rules for everyone's safety!

Please Note

WBTT reserves the right to require a patron to leave if they do not abide by the mask rule and other safety rules noted above. If you are asked to leave, we will process a refund of your ticket purchase the next business day.
